The Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act, 2007<sup>1</sup>

[Act 56 of 2007]

[29th December, 2007]

An Act to provide for more effective provisions for the maintenance and welfare of parents and senior citizens guaranteed and recognised under the Constitution and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto

Be it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-eight Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Statement of Objects and Reasons.—Traditional norms and values of the Indian society laid stress on providing care for the elderly. However, due to withering of the joint family system, a large number of elderly are not being looked after by their family. Consequently, many older persons, particularly widowed women are now forced to spend their twilight years all alone and are exposed to emotional neglect and to lack of physical and financial support. This clearly reveals that ageing has become a major social challenge and there is a need to give more attention to the care and protection for the older persons. Though the parents can claim maintenance under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, the procedure is both time-consuming as well as expensive. Hence, there is a need to have simple, inexpensive and speedy provisions to claim maintenance for parents.

2. The Bill proposes to cast an obligation on the persons who inherit the property of children or their aged relatives to maintain such aged relatives and also proposes to make provisions for setting up oldage homes for providing maintenance to the indigent older persons.

The Bill further proposes to provide better medical facilities to the senior citizens and provisions for protection of their life and property.

3. The Bill, therefore, proposes to provide for—

- (a) appropriate mechanism to be set up to provide need-based maintenance to the parents and senior citizens;
- (b) providing better medical facilities to senior citizens;
- (c) for institutionalisation of a suitable mechanism for protection of life and property of older persons;
- (d) setting up of oldage homes in every district.

4. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.

CASE LAW ► Object.—The Act was enacted principally to ameliorate the deprivation caused to the parents by the children. The break down in the joint family system and creation of micro families possibly have made the present generation a little selfish and self-contend. Consequently many elder persons, particularly widowed woman as noticed in the Act are exposed to neglect embodied and are requested to be provided financial and physical support. Due to the declining of the traditional norms, ethos and moral values of the Indian Society, which emphasized and recognized the necessity to respect and provide care for the elderly had sadly receded and robbed the society in recent times of such values resulted in the present legislation. The Act was enacted to provide for more effective provisions for the maintenance of welfare of parents and senior citizens guaranteed and recognized under the constitution and for matters connected therewith or incidentally thereto, Pranav Singh v. Mahendra Prasad Singh, CO 782 of 2012, Decided on April 27, 2012 by Calcutta High Court.

Object and Intent of the Act ("the said Act" for short) is to provide for institutionalization of suitable mechanism for the protection of life and property of senior citizens. Simple, inexpensive and speedy procedure for the protection of life and property of the senior citizens. State Government to give effect to the laudable and beneficial provisions of the Act, Pachamma v. State of Karnataka, 2016 SCC OnLine Kar 8418 : ILR 2017 KAR 1217.

The parents are statutorily recognized as dependents of married daughters and they are given statutory protection to seek maintenance treating them as dependents and they cannot be denied compensation in case of death of married daughter, Glory Bai v. Thangamani, (2011) 2 LW 460.

► Will — Scope.—"will" does not involve any transfer, nor effect any transfer inter-vivos, but is a legal expression of the wishes and intention of a person in regard to his properties which he desires to be carried into after his death. Thus "will" directs the distribution of property in a particular way after the death

Suggestion made to Government to appoint practicing advocate or retired Judge or serving Judicial Officer as Tribunals/Appellate Tribunals, *M. Venugopal v. Section 8 of the Act authorises the Tribunal to follow a short and quick procedure for expeditious disposal of the case. Sub-section (1) of Section 8 does not contain the expression "trial". The Tribunal in its discretion has not directed the parties to lead evidence as it was unnecessary to decide the application filed by the first respondent.
